

Feeling the Brotherly Love

[mk_gallery images="12102,12101,12096,12070,12069,12068" column="2" image_quality="1" item_id="1449241713-5661ac71e0522"]

Feeling The Brotherly Love

Philly, like no other city, has made beautiful use of our reclaimed materials. It started some 20 years ago with URBN retail brands, including half a million square feet of flooring for their Navy Yard Campus. Recently, our reclaimed materials and furnishings have found their second home in a residence, small retail space and office in the beloved city.

Here's a look at some of Urban's recent projects in Philadelphia:

1. Long-time customer and designer, Robert Jamieson, used our reclaimed redwood to clad a feature wall in a renovated residence in Philadelphia.
2. Our reclaimed wood floors can be seen in Philadelphia's Hats in the Belfry, a 900 square foot retail store in Center City designed by Chrysalis Studio's Hope Velocette.
3. Reclaimed tobacco lathe was used to clad walls in a design by Jamieson for an office in Malvern.

Let us know if you'd like to learn more about how to use Urban's reclaimed materials and fixtures in your next project. CONTACT URBAN